

Maryland's trusted source for business, legal and government news

Klein Enterprises invests in shopping center

 By: Adam Bednar Daily Record Business Writer  January 4, 2017

An affiliate of Baltimore-based Klein Enterprises purchased a shopping center in Winchester, Virginia, for $15.9 million.

Hobby Lobby anchors the 104,703-square-foot Pleasant Valley Shopping Center. Other tenants include Cici's Pizza, Jimmy John's and Staples.

"Pleasant Valley increases our commercial portfolio to more than 2.2 million square feet. We're looking forward to continuing to expand outside the Baltimore area and acquiring Pleasant Valley is a definite step in the right direction," Michael Klein, CEO of Klein Enterprises, said in a statement.

<http://thedailyrecord.com/2017/01/04/klein-enterprises-invests-in-shopping-center/>