BLUE MOON CAFE IS COMING TO FEDERAL HILL

(BALTIMORE) – Klein Enterprises today announced that Blue Moon Cafe, the restaurant's second location in Baltimore, is ready to open.

"We're proud to bring this long-awaited restaurant to the Federal Hill community," said Daniel Klein, President of Klein Enterprises. "The Fells Point location is immensely successful and we're thrilled for this new location to introduce even more Baltimore residents and visitors to the famed food of Blue Moon Cafe."

The restaurant fills a void in the Federal Hill breakfast, brunch and late night dining scene. The new location will feature the same renowned menu as the Fells Point location, which is known for two and a half hour wait lines full of eager patrons. Fan favorites will continue to be the Captain Crunch French Toast, French toast coated in crushed Cap'n Crunch cereal; and the Sweet Baby Jesus, layers of hash brown and crab meat, topped with eggs and hollandaise sauce. Guests will also enjoy a selection of Buttermilk and Specialty Pancakes, Benedicts and Heavenly Omelets. The larger Federal Hill location enables the addition of a full espresso and smoothie bar, featuring classic and signature coffees and smoothie drinks. With a focus on healthy options, fresh fruit and produce will be served daily.

In the upcoming months, owner Sarah Simington has plans to keep the restaurant open 24 hours a day during the weekends.

"I'm excited to offer a respite for bartenders and waiters when they get off work," said Simington, whose dishes have been featured on the Food Network. "Now, nothing is open for them to grab a bite to eat when the bars shut down. Being open 24 hours a day allows me the opportunity to serve them."
